SPORT DANCE October 4

A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE SAN FRANCISCO STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE

VOL. IX | WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1930 | No. 5

SPORT DANCE PROMISES SUCCESS

Affair to Resemble a Ship on World Tour

All aboard for the S. S. Sport Dance of the State Teachers' College to sail from the gymnasium, Saturday, October 4, at nine o'clock. The novel idea of a ship is to be carried out in every way for this affair. The deck, heretofore known as the floor, will be slippery so that dancing on the high seas will not be so rocky. Anson Weeks' music will harmonize perfectly so that the wash of the waves and the noice of the engines will not be discernible.

Passports will be issued that night at nine sharp, the time of the first dance. With this passport, the holder will be entitled to a trip around the world on the good ship S. S. Sport Dance, with a visit at Paris, Spain and the Orient.

Bids for $1.00 are procurable from the Book Store, or at the door, with the presentation of the student body card. One outside couple may be sponsored by a student of the college if they are accompanied by a holder of a student body card. Student body cards must be presented by everyone when procuring bids and when attending the dance.

The committee is as follows: Ann McHugh, chairman; Gola Sanders, Eva Starcevich, Don Horner, Bill Connolly, Elbert Ashland, Alice Gratiot, Betty Kennedy, Ellena Bacigalupi, Willetta Jarvis, Eunice Humphreys, Jacquelyn Beedle, and Ed Plutte.

SENIORS GIVE AN INFORMAL AFFAIR

To start their program of "an activity a month," the members of the class of December '30 held their first informal party, Friday evening, from 4 to 6 p. m., in the Activities Room.

The guests were: President Roberts, Dean Du Four, Dean Ward, Miss Vance, Dr. Michell, and Miss Levy. A committee, with Miss Kathleen O'Farrell as chairman, assisted in receiving the guests.

After a program of musical numbers by talented members of the class, cake and punch were served. The class president, Miss Rose Marraccini, then outlined the program for the term. According to the president, the class, although a small one, has planned a Hallowe'en party for October 31, for which event the class will combine with the class of May '31.

Plans are also being made for a dinner in November. To close the term effectively, Miss Marraccini said that there are to be big events during Senior Week.

The officers of the class are: Rose Marraccini, president; Leah Boehm, vice-president; Kathleen O'Farrell, secretary-treasurer; Mildred Smith, yell-leader.

Enrollment Grows

Enrollment at S. T. C. has continued to grow and has finally reached the 988 mark. Monday evening, September 15, the members of the largest extension class in the history of the college numbered 619.

CHEMICAL ESSAY CONTEST IS OPEN

Students who are interested in competing in the annual national chemistry essay contest for State Teachers' colleges and Normal schools, sponsored by the American Chemical Society, should see Mr. Stanley Morse, assistant professor of physical science.

There are three divisions in the contest: one for high school students; another for university freshmen; and a third for state teachers' college and normal school students. The latter classification applies to students at S. T. C.

These contests have been carried on through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Garvan in memory of their daughter, Patricia, who died because of the lack of knowledge of chemistry in relation to medicine.

There are six topics from which to choose: chemistry in relation to health and disease; chemistry in relation to the home; chemistry in relation to agriculture and forestry; chemistry in relation to national defense; chemistry in relation to enrichment of life; chemistry in relation to any industry. Under each general topic there are three specific subjects. The maximum number of words is 2500.

Three prizes are given for each of the topics: the first, five hundred dollars; the second, three hundred dollars; the third, two hundred dollars. These compositions are due in New York March 1, 1931. Mr. Morse will give directions and bibliographies to interested students.

One of the students of S. T. C., Miss Dorothy Sichenwald, won first place on her topic, Chemistry in Relation to Agriculture. Fresno Teachers' College also placed in 1926, but since then no California teachers' college has placed.

Miss McCall Likes T. C. Student Body

Expressing herself as being favorably impressed by the friendly and co-operative spirit of S. T. C., Miss Eileen McCall, new member of the faculty, was especially enthusiastic about the way in which the students attended the faculty reception that was held recently.

Miss McCall is not a total stranger to the college, because she has made its acquaintance through her sister, Jeanette McCall, who was the valedictorian of the class of May '28.

Although Miss McCall has taught music in many schools, she finds this college the most pleasing. Her classes are responding well, and she expects to develop some talented musicians.

Head Attends Meeting

To attend a meeting of State Teachers' College presidents, which is being held in connection with the Superintendents' Convention, Dr. Alexander Roberts left Saturday evening, September 27, for Tahoe Tavern. He intends to be back on Friday, October 3.

At the High Sierran lake, the college presidents' meeting will discuss such problems as building programs, budgets, curriculum, and changes in certificates.

Leah Boehm Wins Book Store Candy

Hardly three minutes had elapsed after the distribution of the Bay Leaf of Wednesday, September 24, before Leah Boehm went booming into the Student Body Book Store with the name of Catherine O'Sullivan on her lips.

Miss Boehm was the first person to reveal the identity of the first silhouette in a series of contests cuts, thereby winning a half-pound box of Haas' "Half and Half" chocolates.

It is a puzzle to the student body, knowing how closely related Miss O'Sullivan and Miss Boehm are, how the former was so certain of the identity. Then Leah was heard to exclaim, "I'd know Kay's face in any shape or form."

This contest is sponsored by the Book Store and will be run each week in the Bay Leaf for a period of ten weeks. In each issue of the Bay Leaf a new silhouette will appear, and the first student to report to the Book Store the correct identity of the silhouette receives a box of Haas candy as a prize.

PAPER BOARD OF CONTROL ORGANIZES

The Bay Leaf Board of Control, whose main duties are to approve of the functions of the business and editorial staffs of the college newspaper, met recently to plan the term's work. Miss Cecelia Andersen is sponsor.

The board also suggests improvements of the paper, aiming to cooperate with the business and the editorial staffs of the Bay Leaf in order to develop a more collegiate paper.

The members of the board are: Sarah Mason, chairman; Bertha Binter, secretary; Anna Sanbrailo, Edna Denhard, Elizabeth Baker, and Marion Phillips.

Petey the Pedagogue Says:

Mid-term exams, just around the corner, subtly suggest that our college year has begun in earnest. An ounce of midnight oil now will be worth a pound of apple-polishing later on!

FIRST COLLEGE NOON-DAY DANCE IN GYM TUESDAY--- DIME IS ONLY ADMISSION

Weekly Occasions to Become Part of S. T. C. Social Activities

Twelve o'clock, October 7, is the official start of the first College Noon-day Dance at S. T. C. Everybody who is somebody will be there. They're all talking about it.

Admission is only a dime. If the committee knows the students had an honest-to-goodness time, noon dances will be the thing from now on. More than that, it might develop that there will have to be more than one a week.

Dorothy Asher

Dorothy Asher, chairman of the noon dance committee, savs that the dancing will begin right on the dot at the strike of 12. If the instructor of the class preceding wants to keep you overtime, invite him along. That's a sure cure.

Over at California and down at Stanford, dances for the associated students are the usual thing. Everybody goes to them as a matter of form.

There's no reason why S. T. C. shouldn't. The men are here; they have plenty of girl friends; there's a hall; and there certainly should be enough dimes to make the plan a financial success.

Besides, the proceeds go toward making 109 into a regular Activities Room.

Members of the noon dance committee are: Miss Mary A. Ward, advisor; Elbert Ashland, Jacquelyn Beedle, Charles Carson, Viola Giesen, Kathleen O'Farrell, and Mae Quick.

Their motto is "Get Collegiate." Noon dances are one way of getting more collegiate.

Remember, 12 bells next Tuesday over in the gym. Tickets go on sale Thursday in the Book Store. That's the only place to get them. First come, first served!

Graduating Class To Receive Degree

Students graduating in December, 1930, will be the first whole class to receive the degree of Bachelor of Arts from this college. The degrees conferred will include kindergarten-primary, elementary, and junior high certificates.

Among the graduates, there are teachers of experience who have been taking extension work or classes at the college, and students who will teach for the first time.

A list of the graduating class is as follows: Elizabeth M. Andresen, Adele Bailey, Edna H. Barwick, Ida M. Batiloro, Esther N. Berkowitz, Charlotte Berman, Leah M. Boehm, Bessie M. Booth, Margaret H. Cooch, Florentine Decker, Theresa M. DeLu, Luella A. Dilworth, Kathleen E. Dunbar, Miriam L. Feldheym, Margaret Foster, Janice Galbreath, Irma M. Gerske, Gertrude L. Gibson, Georgia Gluesing, Ruth I. COMMITTEE WORKS ON RAISE OF FEES

Studying to the most minute detail situations that involve the questions that are handled, is evidently the policy of Dr. P. F. Valentine's committee, which is a sub-committee working under the Student Affairs group.

The present work requiring a due amount of consideration is:

1. To increase the amount of dues to comply with the demands of the athletic department for men.

2. To establish a budgeting system, in order to provide the necessary funds to promote men's and women's athletics, social functions, and assemblies.

Dr. Valentine, as chairman, superintends the actions of the committee, which consists of Ciwa Griffiths, Margaret Petray, Leah Boehm, Dorothy Williamson, Margaret Lemon, Elbert Ashland, and Allan Wyatt.

Collegiate to Pay

In a recent issue of the Collegio, the weekly paper issued by the State Teachers' College at Pittsburg, Kansas, it states that the editor and the business manager each receive one-fourth of the advertising income of the paper after the incidental running expenses have been paid.

It is interesting to note that the editor and the business manager of the Kanza, the college year book, are paid by contract $200 each.

Masks Make Debut

Dead men, devils, football heroes —all these may be seen in room 217. They are in the form of masks and have been created by members of the stage craft class. The masks will be on exhibition for a week.

WE WANT MORE ASSEMBLIES!

The question has been asked, "Why don't we have more assemblies?" It is a fair question, isn't it? Why don't we? The answer is a simple one; because you of the student body do not support them!

Perhaps you go if the hour is so arranged that you miss a class by doing so, but if it comes later in the day when you are finished an hour or so earlier, do you bother to attend? You do not! You get away as quickly as you can.

Perchance you are not totally at fault; we know the assemblies are not always the most interesting of affairs, but if the student body was to show a spark of interest, make a demand, and give the committee in charge its fullest co-operation, we could have more assemblies, and ones worth attending.

HELP YOUR PAPER

Those of us who are interested in putting out the Bay Leaf are exceedingly interested in the criticisms of this paper. We overhear remarks both encouraging and discouraging, but very seldom does someone come straight to us and give his personal opinion. "Why don't we have a larger paper?" and "Since there are so many older women here, why isn't there a section of the paper devoted to their interests?" We have heard these whisperings and are even now trying to enlarge the paper. This is your paper and your school. Why not help us give you the kind of Bay Leaf you want?

WISE QUACKS

Madeline: Going fishing, Bud?

Bud: Yes.

Mad: Have you worms?

Bud: Yes, but I'm going fishing anyway.

"I prefer blondes," Georgie was heard to say.

"How come?" asked Peg.

"Afraid of the dark," replied Georgie.

After a long search for something, Bill Connolly was heard to moan: "There are more spongers in this school than there are sponges."

Mickey McDonald was heard to describe a flapper as a "Song and Dense Girl." Oh, well, we all have our own ideas.

The Dawn Patrol—Mr. Butler's eight o'clock class.

The Singer of Seville—Miss England.

Legion of the Condemned—Mr. Morse.

The Bad Man—Mr. Ray.

All Quiet on the Western Front—Dean DuFour.

Follow Thru—Miss Hale.

The Unholy Three—Miss Beck, Dr. Cave, Miss Kleinecke.

Eyes of the World—Miss Vance.

When a certain reporter asked Dr. Valentine if he "had any news," he replied that nothing was new; he hadn't even gotten a new pair of shoes for some time.

The suggestion has been given that the college take up a collection to provide Dr. Valentine with something new and exciting to think about.

FRANCISCAN FRIERS

Chaucer wrote complaints—so can I.

This one is about my tennis "titcher," Gladys Benerd.

She weighed in the other day at the corner drug store. It was on one of those fortune scales that slides out a card with your weight on one side, and your fortune on the other.

The card said, "Weight, 115." Fortune, "Your judgments are logical; they are given with charity."

Apparently satisfied with this report, she went home and ate a banana. A moment later, she went out again, passed the same scale, was tempted, and yielded.

So another coin clicked in. Another card came out.

This time it said, "Weight, 117." Fortune, "You are sarcastic, girlie, but in your line of business, you have to be."

So say we dumbbells down on the courts. Aw, "titcher," will I ever get my backhand stroke?

STUDENT TEACHERS GET READING LISTS

Student teachers may now obtain supplementary reading lists for the lower grades at the Frederic Burk Library.

Among the many suggestions compiled by Miss Hermine Henze, children's librarian, are "books to grow on," which include Henry Esmond by Thackeray, King Arthur by Kipling, and Lorna Doone by Blackmore, for the sixth to the eighth grades, inclusive.

"Good Stories of Adventure" are intended to furnish excitement without sensationalism to the adventure-loving reader. Illustrated by the foremost artists of children's books, the list contains Prester John by Buchan, Og-son of Fire by Crump, Mutineers by Hawes, Adrift on an Ice-pan by Grenfell, Jim Davis by Masefield, Heroes of Modern Adventure by Bridges, Merrylips by Baldwin, Life and Adventures of Buffalo Bill by Cody, Smoky the Cowhorse by James, Little Princess Nina by Charskaya, David Goes Voyaging by Putnam, Captain Courageous by Kipling, Boy Life of Napoleon by Cather, Kari the Elephant by Mukerji, Katrina by Haskell, and Swiss Family Robinson by Wyss.

THIRD BOOK ADDED TO DRAWING SERIES

Another and the last of a series of three drawing books written by Miss Hilda Keel-Smith, assistant professor of art, is being published now and will be off the press early in October.

Containing a complete outline of water color, draped figure work, and further development of the theme into its practical application in design and clothing, book three will carry the art course through the seventh grade. With such a thorough foundation, Miss Smith states that the student will be prepared to do any of the advanced art work offered in the high schools and colleges.

Book one, of My Drawing Book series, came out a year ago, while book two was out last January. These two books are used in Art 1A, and the third also will be incorporated in that course.

Miss Smith's extensive knowledge of art is evinced in this series, and the numerous acknowledgments that she receives from educators, artists, and clergymen are the stimuli for an art encyclopedia, or teacher's manual, for which she is at present laying the original plans.

Miss Anderson Is Studying Statistics

Learning to add, subtract, multiply, and divide on a calculating machine is one of the tasks Miss Cecelia Anderson, supervisor in the training school, has to do in connection with her study of statistics at the University of California. Professor Ruch is the instructor of the course.

Notice

Anyone who witnessed an accident on August 25 about 3:45, which occurred at the corner of Waller and Buchanan Streets, and in which a lady was hit by a machine, please report to the office of the President.

NOTICE

The penmanship test will be held October 4, from 9 to 12 a. m. Room numbers will be posted on the official bulletin board. All new students working for kindergarten-primary, elementary, and junior high school tredentials must take this test. All students who failed to pass this test in the past and who are not enrolled in Education A, as well as transfer students and experienced teachers who are not bringing credit in this course from another institution, must take this examination.

The successful passing of this test, or the course given in penmanship is a prerequisite for practice teaching.

INSTRUCTOR MAKES EXTENSIVE JOURNEY THROUGH GERMANY

It was the good fortune of Miss Marion B. Barbour to tour Germany with thirty noted educators of the United States during her vacation. The party was the International Institute from Teachers College of Columbia University. They left New York on June 2 for Bremen and spent six weeks in Germany visiting the leading educational centers of Hamburg, Stutgart, Munich Frankfort, Cologne, Essen, and Berlin. The Passion Play in Bavaria was included in the full program.

The party was elaborately feted by the officials of each city, and they were welcomed cordially by the teachers. Dr. Reynolds of the Horace Mann School acted as spokesman for the party.

The consecration of the Germans to the idea of education, and their reverence for and deference toward the teacher especially impressed Miss Barbour. The old military regime is gone, and the teachers mingle freely with their pupils.

An interesting feature of German education is the "tour" taken every week by each class to some museum, art gallery or educational center. The younger children are accompanied by masters, but the older ones walk from ten to fifteen miles to visit some culture center.

To accommodate this vast number of wandering students the children's hostles have been established. These hostles provide cheap lodgings for the children who throng the highways in search of education.

The party disbanded August 2, and the members scattered to various parts of Europe. Miss Barbour went to Vienna and Rome, where she visited interesting points.

Many of the tourist party devoted the trip to research work toward their degree. Miss Barbour paid special attention to kindergarten and primary work. She came home filled with enthusiasm for German education.

Sorority Holds Tea

A tea, sponsored by the Delta Phi Upsilon, a national honor society, will be held on Wednesday, October 1, in the Kindergarten Building, at four o'clock.

The affair will be given for all the new members of the college who are taking a kindergarten-primary course. The tea, states Miss Marion Barbour, director of kindergarten education and training, will give the new kindergarten primary members an opportunity to meet the department members who are most anxious to become acquainted with them. Miss Barbour concludes that the affair will be well worth every one's attendance.

Calendar Changed

The following changes have been made in the W. A. A. social calendar.

Canoe Party Tuesday, October 7, at Lake Merritt in Oakland. This party is also sponsored by Miss Doris Holtz' swimming class.

Ice skating party Friday, October 24, at Iceland.

Roller skating party Tuesday, November 4, at Roller Land in Oakland.

W. A. A. dinner Friday, November 7.

W. A. A. installation dinner Friday, December 5.

Kathleen O'Farrell, chairman of the W. A. A. social committee, and her assistants are working hard to make each event a success. All members of the student body are cordially invited to attend these affairs.

Social Science Dept. Outlines Work

The first meeting of the Social Science faculty was held recently in Dr. Michell's office.

Mrs. Cowell was elected chairman of the department. Dr. Cave was elected as secretary.

The regular meetings of the department will be held on the fourth Friday of each month in Mrs. Monroe's office.

At a preliminary meeting the following applicants for majors in Social Science were passed: Betty Kennedy, Phyllis Haley; and Ida Roche, Reta Bacigalupi, and Dorothy Barrett for the minors.

The following assignments were made: Curriculum Committee, Dr. Rypins and Dean DuFour; Administration Committee, Dr. Michell and Mrs. Monroe; Student Committee, Dr. Cave and Mrs. Dorris; Research Committee, Dean DuFour and Mrs. Cowell. The chairman of the department is deemed to be ex-officio member of all committees.

Inaugurating a series of informal luncheons to be held during the semester, the members of the Social Science department met Monday noon in room 113. An appetizing menu was served by the Cafeteria, which will be responsible for all future luncheons.

Mrs. Cowell, chairman, presided. The most important discussion concerned the proposed change of requirements for majors and minors in Social Science.

Hereafter the luncheons will be on the third Wednesday of each month. These informal discussions promise to aid rapid change in the Social Science curriculum.

New Books Are Added to Library

As chairman of the library, Dr. Stanley I. Rypins states that four thousand dollars a year is spent to purchase new books for the library.

The greater part of this money has lately been spent for history and reference books to accommodate the new courses in the college. With the money that is allowed the committee to replenish the library, there ought soon to be enough books to furnish the needs of all the students.

According to the present plans for the new buildings, the next library to be built will be of the finest. It will occupy the entire fourth floor of the building to be erected in place of College Hall. It promises to be a haven of quiet, where students will find every possible book helpful to study.

A few of the new books are: Who's Who in America, 1928-1929; Statesman's Year Book, 1929; Ancient Painting, Swindler; Frescoes of Diego Rivera; The Goldsmith of Florence, Gibson; Epochs of Chinese and Japanese Art, Fenollosa; Chemical Dictionary; Latin Dictionary; Handbook of International Organizations; Atlas of Human Anatomy, Sabotto McMurrich; and International Health Year Book.

Hike Club to Form

Owing to the success of the W. A. A. hike last Sunday to Muir Woods, plans are under way to organize a hiking club at S. T. C. All-day hikes on Saturdays and Sundays to the many points of interest around the bay region are planned.

Anyone interested in joining a club of this type, please meet at 4 p. m. in room 109, October 2.

P. E. Class Exhibits

An exhibition of tumbling will be given by Miss Katherine Hall's tumbling class, Tuesday, October 7, at eleven o'clock at the Salvation Army Center. There will be single, double and group stunts. This exhibition is open to the public.

Canoe Party to Be Held by W. A. A.

The W. A. A. will have a canoe party and open air supper at Lake Merritt in Oakland, Tuesday, October 7, at 4:20 p. m. The girls will spend an hour boating, and then a delicious supper cooked in the open air will be served near the boat house. Afterwards a program of songs and stunts will be enjoyed.

Kathleen O'Farrell, the chairman, expects to have a big crowd and assures everyone attending of a "perfect" time. She also hopes to see many faculty members present. Because the party is to be held in Oakland, many students living across the bay will be able to attend more easily. There will be a limit placed on the attendance, so everyone is urged to sign up on the poster in the main hall, where the directions and other information will be posted.

The charge for canoeing will be 25 cents; for the supper, approximately 30 cents. The money must be in by Friday, October 3. Any member of the following committee will collect the money: Kathleen O'Farrell, chairman; Margaret Marcek, Dale Brown, Dorothy Wilson, Violet Wilson, Miriam Snider.

FAMED SCIENTIST ON VISIT IN EAST

Even in a city of celebrities, there was a quickened interest in social and literary circles when Bertrand Russell, famous scientist and philosopher, recently visited Washington. An immediate response of welcome was proclaimed when banquet and entertainments were arranged for him.

All went well until a snag was struck in the final arrangements of greeting. No one knew Dr. Russell personally or had ever seen him. After an unreasonable amount of worry, it was found that Dr. Kiang, who recently lectured to a group in this college, was an old friend of Dr. Russell's. They had met at the University of Peking and had become friends.

Dr. Kieng, then busy at the Library of Congress, willingly dropped his work for the moment, headed the welcoming committee, and in reality "saved the day."

Siena Bridge Tea Proves Success

The annual fall bridge tea given by the Siena Club Saturday afternoon, September 20, at the Siena club rooms was a success. The club rooms were artistically decorated with autumn flowers and greens.

After the games were finished, valuable prizes were awarded to the fortunate players who held the highest scores. The afternoon closed with the serving of refreshments.

Much of the success of the affair was due to the ability of the committee that planned the event. Kay Landers, the chairman, was assisted by Betty Martin, Mary Chaquette, Eileen Holly, Mary Moore, Katherine O'Farrell, and Eva Starcevich.

Infants' garments made from materials bought by the proceeds of the tea will be given to the Needlework Guild, and from there will be distributed to the needy.

"DO NOT DISTURB"

Prolonged study on still life objects by art students has made it necessary for the instructors in the art department to ask the students to kindly observe and heed the signs "Do not disturb," placed near the still life groups in room 211.

It makes it very difficult for art students to continue on drawings started if the groups have been disturbed. Art instructors will appreciate the co-operation of the students in this matter.

SPORTS

Inter-class Sports Hope of President

College spirit represented in a concrete form by athletic teams is the hope of both the president of the college and the president of the student body. This was indicated in interviews last week with President Roberts and Kay O'Sullivan, president of the student body.

President Roberts declares that the college is willing to share the burden of supporting its athletic teams, since they will come under the Physical Education department's budget from the state. However, this budget will not cover all the expenses that such teams would incur, and new methods of raising money are being sought.

Two methods for obtaining money are now under discussion: first, by changing the student-body fee; second, by giving student-body dances.

The question of changing the student-body fee must be decided upon this term by the Executive Board in order that, if the fee is changed, such a change would become active in August, 1931. It is impossible to change the fee before that date because the fall and spring terms' catalogue has already been printed, stating the entrance fee, and these catalogues have been circulated throughout the state. Because the fall 1931-spring 1932 catalogue will be compiled this December, change of fee must be decided this term. A committee is at present investigating the advisability of increasing the present fee.

The question of student-body dances as a means of forming an athletic fund is now being considered by the Student Affairs committee.

Numerous circle games, croquet, and swinging on the jungle gymnasium will begin with the completion of kindergarten-primary playground north of the building.

TENNIS

The inter-class tennis tournament will be held starting Tuesday, October 14, 1930. The following rules and regulations will govern the tournament:

1. The classes of the college will be arranged as follows: Entering Freshmen; High Freshmen; Sophomores; Juniors and Seniors combined.

2. Each of the above-named groups may enter a team consisting of two singles players and four doubles players. No man competing on a doubles team may compete in singles and vice versa. Each class will play each other class to single matches and two double matches.

3. Scoring will be as follows: a win will count as one point; a loss will count as zero points. At the end of the tournament the class having the largest number of victories or points will be declared champion, and the one having the next largest will be second, etc.

4. Contests will start at 4:15 p. m. However, if all the players involved in a match can agree on another hour during the day when no tennis classes are on the courts, or on Saturday or Sunday, the same may be arranged, providing the information is communicated to Tennis Manager Rogie at least twenty-four hours before the match is scheduled to be played.

5. Try-outs for class teams will be conducted by class athletic managers; they are as follows:
Entering Freshmen..."Hal" Garden
High Freshmen....Charles Carson
Sophomores .....Alton Cohen
Seniors and Juniors....Alan Wyatt

6. Class managers will submit entries to Tennis Manager Rogie on or before October 9, 1930.

A ten-man team will be picked to represent S. T. C. against Mission High at a later date. Games are being sought with Marin, San Mateo, California Frosh, Stanford Frosh, and St. Ignatius.

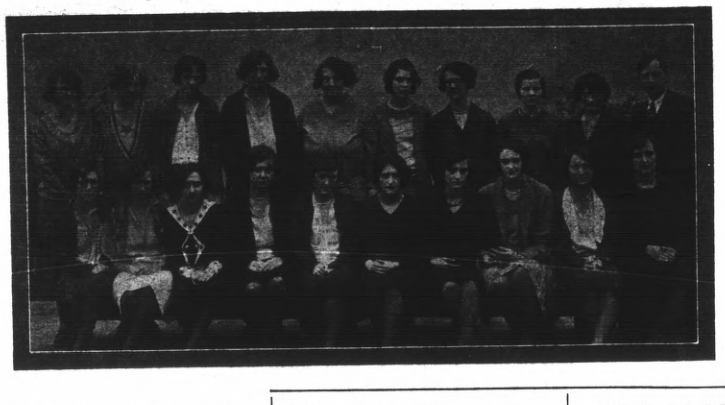
BOOKANEERS CLUB STARTS FROM SOCIAL GROUP



LITERATURE NOW HOLDS PLACE OF HONOR

BOOKANEERS CLUB HISTORY TOLD

When the Bookaneer's Club was organized it was more social than literary. The members discussed books during breakfasts, luncheons, and hikes. It was organized and sponsored by Miss Marguerite Squire, now of the University High School.

There was no definite plan of study until 1927 when Miss Mary Kleinecke, associate professor of English, became sponsor. Through her the club began the study of the novel with special emphasis on American and English authors. The American play was the theme of the next term.

In the fall of 1929, Dr. Elias Arnesen, associate professor of English, became sponsor. Continental novelists were studied last year with special reference to their style and technique. Comparative studies were made from which the members derived much pleasure and profit.

Many pleasant social evenings were spent in various city restaurants. The Bookaneer Festival was the feature event and carried out the theme of the club name and purpose in decorations and games.

This year the club is making an intensive study of the short story with special reference to the technique. A new feature of the club is the writing of original short stories. These are submitted to the club for friendly criticism and discussion.

The club is enthusiastic over its work and owes much of its success to the sponsor, Dr. Arnesen.

Music Test Given

One hundred and thirty-five music tests have been given by Miss Ethel England, music instructor, and the remaining tests are to be completed by October 1. The musical ability of the freshmen, according to Miss England, is average.

The 1B music class is very enthusiastic and has proven to be hard workers. Operas and operatic stories are taken up by classes 52 and 152. Class 53 has been very fortunate in being able to have phonograph records of most of the opera Faust. The records have been brought to class by a pupil, Agnes Clemmensen.

Glee Club Dance Will Be Success

Committees have already shown enthusiasm in making plans for the Glee Club formal dinner dance to be given October 11.

The Gold and Ivory ballroom of the Western Women's Club is to be transformed into a garden through the efforts of the decorating committee, of which Thelma Silvia, Rose Berry, Mildred Scott, and Elizabeth Moller are members.

Members of other commimttees who are working diligently to make the affair a success are: Kathryn Hurly, Charlene Crawford, Geraldine Cleek, Vivian Brewer, Sally Wilde, Dorothy Brett, Margaret Petray, and Edna Denhard.

Ruth Brazel, the chairman, is planning many entertaining novelties for the dance intermissions.

Club Holds Dinner

A dinner at the Bellevue Hotel marked the first evening meeting of the Scribes Club. The retiring president, Miss Helen Jorgensen, was presented with a quill pen set. After the dinner, a number of nonsense verses and limericks were written and read by the members. A poem, Monkeys and the Coconut Tree, written by Ciwa Griffiths and Margaret Hazelwood, won first prize as being the most amusing one. Mrs. Ruth Herndon won a second prize for guessing most correctly the writers of the various poems.

The club plans to hold an evening meeting each month at the homes of the members.

Debating Society Honors Officers

Delta Sigma, the college Debating Society, held a dinner at Picadilly Inn, Monday evening, September 22. Ethel Newton and Margaret Higginson were in charge of the arrangements.

The new officers who were inaugurated are: Alice Heim, president; Ruth Lescinski, vice-president; Dorothy Doelker, treasurer; Charline Crawford, corresponding secretary, and Ethel Newton, recording secretary.

Miss Ruth Richards, the club sponsor, was presented with a corsage which was in keeping with the color scheme planned for the occasion. Phyllis Haley, retiring president and founder of the organization, was presented with a compact.

A new organization of the club is being considered along lines developed by other colleges that may lead to the establishment of two debating societies, one of men and one of women. Each club is to elect new members, and they are to debate separately, or in conjunction with each other. If these plans mature, affiliation with other clubs will result.

Alice Heim, the new president, has declared that the two questions before the club at present are: first, that the youth of the day are tending toward atheism; second, that the present age is too materialistic.

STUDENTS SURVEY BANCROFT LIBRARY

Six members of Dr. Elene M. Michell's class in California history were privileged Saturday, September 20, to see a most rare collection of early California historic records in the Bancroft Library of the University of California.

The room in which these many priceless, original California documents are kept is made of steel and is only open to graduate students studying for a doctor's degree.

The group saw among numerous other fascinating and highly historical papers: an original letter from the queen of Spain telling about Cortez and his accomplishments; copies of twelfth century maps on which California was pictured as an island; and the most striking of all, the wood bound, pigskin, hand painted, original diary of Brieen, a member of the pathetic Donner party.

It was because of Dr. Michell's acquaintance with the librarian that the students were given the opportunity to view this famous collection.

The members of the class, led by Dr. Michell, were: Minnie Kern, Aubrey Moore, Claire Grimes, Helen Shea, Mary Mortigia, and Ruth Guilland.

Peggy Pullet: I believe that new rooster has a crush on me.

Daphne Duck: Aw, don't be so cock-sure.
